

Creativity & NeuroPsychoEd Committee

1. Sandra, chair, previewed New York: 1962-1964 a current exhibition at the Jewish Museum This fascinating and informative exhibit is relevant from a socio- cultural perspective. It draws from all the arts: musical, poetic, fashion, and performing arts. Clinical relevancy can be deduced from its rich and varied content. Jewish Museum, 1109 5th Ave & E 92nd St, New York, NY 10128 Museum phone: 212 423 3200 infor@thejm.org
Guest passes are limited. A visit to the museum will be announced at the end of October.

2. The Chaim Gross House and Studio located near NYU offers an exhibition which explores the importance of six collective themes in immigrant artists' lives and work: their personal histories; thriving communities in neighborhoods such as Greenwich Village and the Lower East Side; the rise of Social Realism and New Deal art projects during the Great Depression; A bit downtown, The Three Giovanni's Restaurant offers reasonably priced meals and a good opportunity in which to share reactions to the exhibit. Both Sandra and Inna plan to be there to field questions and respond to inquiries. Please plan early as a pre-paid fee of $15 for the staff tour is required. Reimbursement is being considered. Each tour allows for six participants. It is a unique place and worth a visit.

3. Please contact Sandra if you wish to participate in one or both exciting events.

Sandra Indig, LCSW-R, NCPsyA - Chair psych4arts@hotmail.com, 302A West 12th St. Suite 306, NY, NY 10014
Dr. Inna Rozentsvit, NeuroPsychoEd Chair Inna.Rozensvit@gmail.com